

Are People Problems Hurting Your Business?

Our Solutions For People Problems Work

Sooner or later most companies experience problems with their employees that negatively affect morale, productivity, and eventually the bottom line. Symptoms of these problems may be evidenced by low morale, poor communication, and ineffective management style.

At Stanislaw Consulting we have the knowledge, training, and experience in personnel issues from both a business and psychotherapeutic vantage point. With our unique perspective, we conduct in-depth interviews and utilize on-line assessment tools that enable us to pinpoint the root causes of these issues. We then develop individually tailored solutions for you.

Some of the common problem areas we deal with are:

- Issues unique to family businesses
- Inter-personnel conflicts
- Cultural differences
- Low employee morale
- Poor communication
- Problem employees
- Succession planning

With our broad experience and proven methods, we get to the root causes and develop effective, long-lasting business solutions. So don't wait until people problems start having a destructive impact on your success. Take action now!
